- I. Qualified applicants are current students who satisfy the requirements for short-term accommodation application as well as relevant regulations and rules.
- II. The lease term is stated above. The lease terminates as the term expires. Moving out halfway through the lease will constitute a breach of the lease.
- III. Rent:
 - [1] The rent per vacancy is calculated by reference to the average accommodation fee for the dormitory being applied for in the semester when you file an application. The Student Campus Life Guidance Section will give you a payment slip for the accommodation fee.
 - [2] A deposit of NT$3,000 must be paid when you sign this lease. When you move out of the dormitory upon the expiration of the lease, ISU will make an interest-free refund of the deposit after a) you clear out the dorm room and return the room key and the access card, b) payable electricity charges and compensation for any damage to dormitory facilities due to improper use are deducted, and c) you return dormitory-owned items and clean up the dorm room.
 - [3] The deposit will be confiscated if you don't move in, move out halfway, or fail to complete the move-out procedure by a given deadline.
- IV. Electricity Charges: A meter is installed at each dorm room and you shall pay electricity charges based on actual energy consumption during the lease. Electricity charges will be deducted from the deposit. (There is no need to pay water charges as they are covered by the rent.)
- V. You agree to abide by the Regulations for Student Dormitory Management at I-Shou University and the Housing Regulations for Dormitory Residents at I-Shou University, to comply with guidance and supervision from dormitory superintendents, and to keep the dormitory safe, quiet and clean. In case of any violation, you will be punished according to ISU's regulations and rules as well as be held liable for any damage, injury or loss.
- VI. If an access control system is installed at the dormitory entrance or the elevator, you shall enter or leave with an access card and keep the doors closed at all times. You must not bring relatives, friends or non-residents into the dormitory or allow them to stay overnight, unless when you move in or out on a designated date. You are only allowed to meet guests in the dormitory common room.

VII. Dormitory 3 provides triple en-suite rooms only. Triple rooms with one resident only are also available as long as you pay for the rest two vacancies. When one of your roommates moves out during the lease term, leaving only one or two residents staying in the room, you shall have no objection to being relocated to another room or having a new roommate(s) move in.

VIII. When you are found to have violated the Housing Regulations for Dormitory Residents at I-Shou University, ISU reserves the right to terminate the lease immediately and request you to move out by a given deadline. When the lease is terminated, you shall clean out the dorm room right on the second day of lease termination. You shall not claim any right against ISU or request any relocation allowances or other fees from ISU. ISU reserves the right to dispose of all items left behind after you move out.

IX. As there is no parking lot at the dormitory, you shall always park your motorcycle (vehicle) at the parking lot on campus.

X. You are barred from hanging or drying your clothes or being dressed improperly (e.g. in underwear or pajamas) on the balcony or causing any disturbance to the nearby I-Shou International School or shopping area from the balcony.

XI. This lease shall become effective when you pay the deposit and sign this application form.
